hsa\_pbs.htm](http://www.lni.wa.gov/hsa/ProvBulletins/hsa_pbs.htm)

Purpose:

This bulletin replaces Provider Bulletin 01-07 "Chiropractic Consultation Program." It describes the department's policies on consultation referrals for the Chiropractic Consultation Program (second opinion consultations) and department rating examinations. It applies to both State Fund and self-insured claims.

This Bulletin is in effect for dates of service on or after June 1, 2003.

Prior Authorization is not required to obtain second opinion consultations for claims meeting the referral conditions below.

The attending doctor may make a referral for a second opinion consultation directly to a consultant without prior authorization from the State Fund or a self-insured employer under the conditions shown below. However, attending doctors must inform the claim adjudicator of pending consultations in their progress notes by giving the name of the consultant and the date of the appointment.

If the doctor has obtained a recent consultation and is notified that the department or self-insurer is arranging an examination, he/she must immediately advise the department or self-insurer of the consultation.

NOTE: All referrals to psychiatrists or Ph.D. level psychologists for consultations and evaluations require prior authorization.

The attending doctor may not make a referral for a second opinion consultation if:

- an independent medical examination has been scheduled,
- claim reopening is pending, or
- the claim is closed.

Referral conditions:

A referral for a second opinion is required when:

- A complication, controversy or dispute arises over the treatment for any injured worker.

OR

- Care extends more than 120 days beyond the initial visit and the attending doctor requests additional treatment.

OR

- The department requests a consultation examination.

A referral for a second opinion is optional when:

- The worker's accepted condition presents a diagnostic or therapeutic problem.

What is a chiropractic consultation?

A chiropractic consultation is a second opinion examination requested by the attending doctor to clarify the diagnosis or treatment plan and performed by a chiropractic physician who is listed on the following pages.

How does the Chiropractic Consultation Program assist attending doctors?

The chiropractors listed in the following pages have been approved to serve as consultants from June 1, 2003 through May 31, 2005. These consultants meet the education and experience requirements established by the department and the Chiropractic Advisory Committee. Additionally, they have agreed to uphold the chiropractic consultant performance and continuing education standards.

How are IMEs different from chiropractic consultations?

An independent medical examination (IME) is an evaluation that may be requested by the claim manager of the State Fund or the self-insurer or may be arranged in response to a request or issue raised by the attending doctor or the employer at the time of injury. The information may be needed to document the worker's condition so that appropriate assistance can be provided or to allow an administrative decision to be made about a claim. Approximately 80% of the IMEs are requested to establish whether the worker has reached maximum benefit from treatment and to determine any permanent impairment from the injury.

Doctors who perform IMEs and impairment ratings must be on the department's Approved Examiners List.

IMEs differ from consultations in that the:

- Department's or self-insured employer's claim adjudicator must order IMEs and may ask the IME doctors to rate impairment.
- Attending doctors may ask or recommend that an independent medical examination be arranged and may request which specialties or disciplines should participate. However, the final decision regarding referral, level of examination to be performed, and participants in an IME remains with the claim adjudicator.

The department or self-insured employer may ask an attending chiropractor who is on the Approved Examiners List to rate the impairment of a worker. If the doctor is reluctant to rate the patient, he/she may refer the worker to any chiropractor on the Approved Examiners List for this service. Many of the chiropractic consultants meet the qualifications for performing Independent Medical Examinations (IMEs) and impairment ratings. Chiropractic consultants on the following pages who are also on the Approved Examiners List have an asterisk (*) preceding their name.

Summary:

	Referral Source	Type of Examination	Select Examiner From:	Prior Authorization Required?
Chiropractic Consultations	Attending Doctor	Second Opinion	Chiropractic Consultant List or refer to a medical specialist	Only if for psychological or psychiatric evaluation
Impairment Ratings	Claim Adjudicator may ask an Approved Examiner to rate his/her own patient. These attending doctors may choose to refer to another doctor on the Approved Examiners List	May perform impairment rating	Any doctor on the Approved Examiners List	Provided by the claim adjudicator's request for an impairment rating
IMEs	Claim Adjudicator	May Rate Impairment	Approved Examiner List	Provided by the referral from the claim adjudicator

For more information on obtaining an impairment rating consultation, review the "Medical Examiners' Handbook". To obtain a copy, call 1-800-848-0811.

What are the chiropractic consultation billing codes?

Only doctors listed in the following pages will be paid for chiropractic consultation (second opinion) billing codes. Approved chiropractic consultants may bill the first three levels of CPT office consultation codes: 99241, 99242, and 99243.

How does the 2002 scope of practice change affect how the department works with claims involving chiropractic care?

This change principally impacts department practice that limited when a chiropractor may be an attending doctor on an accepted extremity condition claim. Prior to HB2501, chiropractors were not allowed to be attending doctors on claims for industrial injuries and occupational conditions originating in the extremities. In order for manipulation of extremity conditions to be within chiropractic scope, a spinal condition needed to be part of the accepted occupational disease or injury. In cases where a spinal condition was an accepted condition as well, chiropractors have already been treating injured workers' extremities. In the past, in cases without a spinal condition as part of the accepted condition, a broader scope practitioner was required to be the attending doctor. Because this linkage is no longer required, chiropractors can now be attending doctors in claims for extremity conditions. Chiropractic consultants may be asked more frequently about occupational disease issues.

Where can I obtain more information?

For more information on consultations refer to the "Specialty and Administrative Services" section of the department's "Medical Aid Rules and Fee Schedules" (fee schedule) as well as the following rules:

WAC 296-20-01002 Definitions

WAC 296-20-035 Treatment in cases that remain open beyond sixty days

WAC 296-20-045 Consultation requirements

WAC 296-20-051 Consultations

WAC 296-23-195 Chiropractic consultations

To obtain a copy of the fee schedule, see <http://www.lni.wa.gov/hsa/MARFS/Default.htm> or call 1-800-848-0811.

What is the application process for becoming a chiropractic consultant?

In September 2003, applications will be available for the next chiropractic consultant open enrollment period. To be considered, the department must receive applications and all supporting documentation by November 28, 2003.

During late summer 2003, chiropractors in Washington will receive Chiropractic Consultant Program application forms. If you do not receive the application by mid September 2003, please request an application from Joanne McDaniel at (360) 902-6817 or mdan235@lni.wa.gov.

What are the requirements for becoming a chiropractic consultant?

Minimum Requirements:

1. Maintain a current license to practice chiropractic in the State of Washington.
2. Have an active provider number with the Department of Labor and Industries.
3. Provide proof of completing:
  - a. Not less than 180 hours of post graduate continuing education (CE) prior to application. These hours shall be from such subjects as neurology, spinal orthopedics, pectoral and pelvic girdle orthopedics, osseous roentgenology, examination methods, methods of adjusting or manipulation and human biomechanics.
  - b. 30 hours of continuing education during the year prior to submitting an application.
4. Be in active clinical practice for a minimum of 5 years with at least 2 of those years in Washington by the date the application is submitted. At least 50 percent of the doctor's practice in Washington must be devoted to patient management including treatment of injured or ill workers.
5. Demonstrate a pattern of practice consistent with the department's utilization standards and Medical Aid Rules and Maximum Fee Schedules. Applicants must be active providers in good standing with the department.
6. Complete a basic level Washington State Workers' Compensation course prior to applying for consultant status.
7. Complete the department's seminar on chiropractic consultations.

When are the next required seminars for future chiropractic consultant applicants?

The Chiropractic Advisory Committee and the Washington State Chiropractic Association support the Department of Labor and Industries in presenting the required courses shown below. Doctors who will apply for chiropractic consultant status during the next open enrollment period (in autumn 2004) must have completed both courses before submitting their application. Watch your mail for the registration brochures during 2004.

All interested parties may register to attend these classes and will receive written documentation of continuing education contact hours.

Future Chiropractic Consultant Applicants: If you've completed these classes in the past, there's no need to register for the sessions below.
